Briefs...

Memorial Day services will be held at Devendorf Plaza commencing at 11:00 o'clock Tuesday morning. Chaplain Joseph Geary of the Naval Postgraduate School will offer the prayer. Speaker will be Councilman John Chitwood.

Participating in the ceremony will be an honor guard from the Naval Air Facility, the Women's Auxiliary of American Legion Post 512, Boy Scout Troop 86 and Girl Scout Troop 71. Taps will be played by Carleton Macy, a Carmel High School student.

A band concert will be broadcast over the public address system in the park for the half hour preceding the services, which are sponsored by Carmel Legion Post 512.

Tomorrow will be Poppy Day in Carmel. Members of the Carmel American Legion Auxiliary will conduct their annual sale of red paper poppies, handmade by disabled veterans, to raise funds for veterans rehabilitation, care of needy children in veteran families and shopping services for hospitalized veterans.

Mayor Frank Putnam, City Clerk Larry Rose and City Attorney John Morse were in Sacramento today to lend support to the Bradley Bill (AB 2100) on county supervisorial redistricting, up for discussion this afternoon at a session of the Local Government Committee of the California Legislature.

Ocean Avenue continues to be spruced for summer. The street department painted center stripes and crosswalk lines this week on the new black roadway paving. Next project, according to Street Commissioner Francis Whitaker, is the repainting of parking stall markings from Mission to San Carlos. The new stalls in this block

George Mosolf Asks To Give Up Coaching Carmel High Teams

Coaching personnel changes at Carmel High School are announced by Principal Warren Edwards following the request of George Mosolf to be released from 20 years' coaching responsibilities. Mr. Mosolf will devote his full time, in future, to the boys' physical education program and development of intramural sports, according to Mr. Edwards.

Hadley Hicks will replace Mr. Mosolf as varsity football and baseball coach. Frederick Rainer will continue to coach the junior varsity football teams.

Another coaching change is the replacement of Dan Yurkovich, varsity basketball coach, by Richard Lawitzke. Mr. Yurkovich is relinquishing coaching duties to give his full time to the boys' counseling program.

During his coaching years at Carmel High School, George Mosolf has achieved an enviable record for the number of CCAL championship teams he has developed. Carmel High School ended the 1961 football season undefeated in varsity B-division CCAL football competition for 33 straight games.

Painting In Resurgence But Will Abstract Art Stay? Asks Jesse Corsaut

By Raylyn Penney

"Either New York has changed, or I've changed."

Carmel painter Jesse Corsaut, who remembers that not so long ago an artist could rent a good north light in a New York City studio for a reasonable sum, returned this month from a five months' stay there which netted him some mixed feelings and changed memories.

"The first month and a half," he said, "I spent just looking for a studio, any studio.

"Most of the buildings with good skylight studios were the old buildings. These are being leveled by the renewal project, except for Greenwich Village where many studios are occupied by people who like the idea of having a Village studio even though they don't need one and have never painted in their lives.

"That leaves the lofts in the downtown buildings, prized by generations of painters for their spaciousness and low rent. However, the New York Fire Department is systematically vacating all these as living and working quarters because several past fires have occurred in lofts.

"I finally wound up in an uptown brownstone near Columbus Circle. No north light, of course. Hardly any light at all, but I rigged up a set of overhead electric lights. The house was old, odorous and still had DC current."

Then Jesse hastened on to say he didn't want his report to fellow Carmelites to sound grim. On the contrary, art—especially painting—is in resurgence. More painters are selling their work than ever before (even if they have to live in Connecticut and drive to town with their canvases), and more people are buying art than ever before. Hundreds of new galleries have opened.

"Also," Jesse says, "modern and representational art have become fairly well reconciled to each other. The more liberal painters

Homeowners Protest Commercial Zoning For Mission Ranch

A decision to ask the County Planning Commission to postpone, at least for a month, any action on requested three-phase zoning of the 29-acre Mission Ranch property resulted from a meeting of residents of the adjacent area Monday evening in River School.

Corum Jackson, chairman of the Carmel advisory committee to the county commission, arranged the meeting to obtain opinions of Mission Tract homeowners before his committee made any recommendations on the rezoning matter to the county.

John P. Davis expressed the attitude of many of the more than 100 persons present when he said they were cold and suspicious because information on the development of the three-phase zoning was shallow and prevented interested persons from forming any opinion on the matter.

Malcolm Millard, attorney for Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dienelt, owners of the Mission Ranch, now a nonconforming commercial operation in a residence zone, explained the three-phase new zoning asked for the 29 acres south of Carmel between Carmel Mission Basilica and River School.

Seven acres at the northwest corner of the land are proposed to

Council Drafts Motel Bed Tax After Struggle

Carmel city councilmen came one step nearer to a proposed bed tax by calling unanimously for a draft ordinance on the subject last night.

The action climaxed an evening of struggle to establish the true identity of the goose that lays Carmel's golden egg.

Motel-hotel owners and operators spent the first two-thirds of the adjourned council session professing to know the old girl well. She is, they say, the free-spending tourist who, if she finds a tax on her bed, will spread her valuable wings and fly to untaxed beds outside of town.

On the contrary, said at least two city councilmen and several speakers from the floor, Carmel's particular goose is the permanent, property-owning resident who has, by his interest in the village arts and esthetic living for himself, created the atmosphere visitors come to enjoy.

If adopted, the four percent measure could net the city $85,376 annual revenue from the 821 transient rental units in four hotels and 43 motels, according to a report prepared by City Clerk Larry Rose. The figures are based on a $9 per night estimated average price and 65 percent average occupancy.

Bed tax revenue will be used to bolster the city's capital outlay

Carmel High Seniors Open In Grass Harp At Sunset Tomorrow

Weeks of rehearsals will end tomorrow night when the curtain rises for The Grass Harp, Carmel High School's senior class play. A product of playwright and short story author Truman Capote, the play features characters who are "the pathetic casualties of a society with whose pattern of behavior their secret desires are not compatible." The seniors are giving the first Peninsula production of the fantasy-drama.

Under the direction of drama teacher Robert Wilson, the 15-member cast will show the result of long weeks of preparation for the project, handled almost entirely by members of the senior class. The play will be presented tomorrow and Saturday nights at 8:15 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium.

Jack Miller's San Carlos Realty nine double-timed Turner & McEldowney in a pair of Little League tilts last week to take a substantial 6-1 lead in the Carmel LL chase after three weeks' play. The realtors had an easy time with the cellar-dwelling artisans, clipping them, 13 to 0, and 15 to 5. Steve King pitched the first win over the bricklayers and helped out in the second victory.

Newt Goodrich's Boys' Town crew kept pace with the realtors by winning a big one from Art Carpenter's Pilots Market gang, 8 to 3. With Richard Oleson pitching a fine five-hitter, Boys' Town breezed through five scoreless innings before the grocers got three markers in the futile sixth. Mark Snopkowski, Gary Newton, and David Eagle each collected two blows in three chances to help the Clothiers to the big win over Pilots. Terry Mosolf (2-for-3) and Jim Baldwin (1-for-2) topped the Pilots hitters.

Pilots Market got back on the win trail at the expense of Wilder & Jones Tuesday night by clipping the plumbers, 4 to 0. Bob Farrell and Terry Mosolf pitched the win for the grocers with Mosolf and Bob Gamble providing the big bats. Gamble stroked a perfect 3-for-3 while Terry hit a pair of singles in three chances at the plate. Tony Helm got the only hit for the Wilder & Jones nine.

In the best game of the week, Jack Cate's Wilder & Jones aggregation clipped the Sports Shop, 2 to 1, in a pitcher's duel between Randy Newman and Hart Silverie. The plumbers got two runs on one hit while the Sports were able to manage one run on three hits. Mike Hutchinson, speedy W & J left-fielder, got the only safe blow for the plumbers while Rollie Champe, Lou Shone, and Mel Grimes stroked singles for the losers.

Tonight's Little League slate matches Wilder & Jones against the Sports Shop in a make-up game. Second-half play begins next Wednesday with Wilder & Jones going against Jim Kelsey's Turner & McEldowney gang.

Lee McGuckin's Village Inn nine is showing the way to the other six teams in the Farm Team League with three wins and no losses after three Saturdays of jam-packed action. The Inn crew has been paced by the steady pitching of John Dudley and the solid hitting of Rudy LaMarr. John has been credited with hurling the three victories for McGuckin's gang and Rudy has a fabulous hitting streak of seven doubles in nine trips to the plate. The consensus of opinion in Little League circles is that LaMarr should be drafted for regular Little League play in order to spare the Farm League pitchers from his ringing wood.

John Harrison's Derek Rayne nine is riding close herd on the Village Inn and will give the leaders a close tussle when they meet this Saturday. The clothiers are 2-0 after two weeks of play and have a solid squad primed for championship play. With Troy Spindler, Tom Noonan, Mark Spindler, Mike Castro, and Hugh Steele sparking the attack, Derek Rayne has to be considered as a threat for the league title.

CIRCLING THE BASES

The Carmel Merchants softball team stood up to a severe challenge from the Varian Associates of Palo Alto last Sunday and nipped the visitors, 2 to 1, at the Pacific Grove ball park. Diminutive pitcher Phil Ramirez tossed a nifty three-hitter at the Peninsula A-League entry and helped his own cause by scoring a tally ahead of Paul Ricketson's well-hit double. Excellent defensive play by Joe Ramirez and Jack McGaughey helped to pave the way for the Merchant win. The Merchants are currently entered in the Pacific Grove Recreation League and stand a good chance to supplant the Peninsula Paint as the top club in the circuit. A win for the Merchants will assure them of a chance to play in the State Tournament slated for later in the summer.

Carmel High's junior-varsity baseball team just missed being the top jayvee squad in the B-division of the CCAL when they dropped a 7-2 decision to the hopped-up Hollister Hayseeds last Tuesday afternoon at the Padre diamond. The Little Padres jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first heat but succumbed to a fine seven-run outburst in the fourth frame. Steve Johnson tossed the first three innings for the Carmel Babes and kept the situation well under control. However, in the fourth canto, the visitors teed off with reckless abandon and pushed across 7 markers to send the title to Hollister. Jack DeWitt, 2-for-3, and Tim Mosolf, 1-for-1, led the Carmel jayvee hitters as they made a determined bid for the league title.

Plenty of baseball action on tap for Carmel youngsters this summer as the Pony League and Babe Ruth League teams square off in their weekly leagues. The Pony League embraces the 13-14 year-old players while the Babe Ruth League has the pastimers in the 13-15 bracket. Carmel has one team entered in the Babe Ruth League while the village Pony League performers will staff four teams. The first round of the Pony League will be played at the Navy Postgraduate Field while the second round will unfold at the Carmel Little League Park.

Monterey Peninsula College wind up its 1961 season this Saturday afternoon in a double-header with Vallejo Junior College. The Lobos have suffered through a disastrous season this year and need local help in order to field a representative club in 1962. Local preps have steered clear of baseball at the Lobo campus in recent years and the showing in the Coast JC Conference has been rather pathetic. However, there are plenty of good baseball players graduating from the Peninsula prep schools to staff a fine ball club and the closed JC ruling will undoubtedly help the Lobo baseball prospects.

PADRE TANKMAN PLACES IN NCS SWIM MEET

Brilliant freshman swimmer Al Nishimura made history for the Carmel High swimmers last Saturday afternoon when he placed fifth in the North Coast Section Championships at Santa Clara. The slender freshman turned the 100-yard backstroke in 1:07 and established himself as the top backstroke performer in the Coast Counties Athletic League. With four more years of competition in which to prove himself, Nishimura is certain to rewrite the books in all the backstroke distances.

Nishimura paced the Carmel lightweights to their most successful season in several years when he consistently placed first in all the league meets and splashed to victories in both the CCAL Meet and in the trials for the North Coast Section classic.

BARBIER PIGEON WINS RACE

Saturday, the Carmel-Monterey-Seaside Racing Pigeon Club held their seventh race of the season, flown from Carlin, Nevada, a distance of approximately 425 air miles. Release time, 6:00 o'clock in the morning, the weather clear and calm. Following are the results in yards per minute:

J. Barbier, Salinas, 1129.834; J. Scott, Carmel Valley, 1087.851; A. Anderson, Del Rey Oaks, 1060.698; M. Hanssens, Carmel Valley, 1040.160; G. Artellan, Carmel Highlands, 1023.596; L. Richards, Marina, No Report.

The next race will be flown from Rogerson, Idaho, Sunday, May 28.

Four Carmel Boys Chosen For Hawaii Navy League Cruise

Four Carmel boys, Jon Raggett, Peter Foster, John Hackbarth, and Jeff McKenna, have been chosen by the local council of the Navy League for a cruise to Hawaii aboard a Navy troopship.

Each year the Monterey Peninsula Council of the Navy League selects several recommended Peninsula high school students for participation in "shipmate" cruises, during which the boys are expected to perform regular seamanlike tasks, stand watches, and attend classes.

Original announcement of this year's selected "shipmates" named only Raggett and a Pacific Grove high school student, George Goldsmith. An honor student in his junior year at Carmel High, Raggett is one of the Peninsula's top sailors, and plans to study for a career as a naval architect. On Tuesday night, however, the Navy League notified the four boys listed as alternates, McKenna, a sophomore at Carmel High, and juniors Foster and Hackbarth, and another Pacific Grove student, Stephen Roth, that all six would be included on the cruise.

The four Carmel sailors will ship from San Francisco on Saturday, June 2, aboard the Navy transport USS Mitchell. The two-week cruise will include a layover of several days at Honolulu; their ship returns to San Francisco on June 14. Timing of the voyage will absent the four from part of finals week at the high school; with the permission of school authorities, they are taking some exams this week. But they'll be home in time for two days of activities before the high school graduation on June 16.

Painting In Resurgence But Will Abstract Art Stay? Asks Corsaut

in each school feel they can learn from each other.

"At present there seems to be widespread reappraisal of the motives and significance of recent abstract painting. Most people now feel representation in art is here to stay. The question being asked these days is, Is abstract art here to stay?"

Also on the positive side of his travel reflections, Jesse added, is Greenwich Village itself. Although literally steaming with coffee houses and humming with night clubs, it yet retains its smalltown quietude, a hiatus in the midst of chaos, its pleasant friendly feeling still intact, Jesse says, although most of his own friends have gone elsewhere to live.

We found Jesse's tale of his own personal Operation Greenwich Village Revisited incisive, entertaining, informative. Many Carmelites may have visited New York in recent months but it takes an artist, of course, to get an artist's-eye view.

A resident of the Carmel artists' community for about five years, he is a former New York City denizen, graduate of the Art Students League, and a frequent exhibitor in the city's galleries, as well as in Carmel.

When he is not painting, he is likely to be off on a prospecting or an exploring expedition to the wilder parts of California or perhaps star-gazing with the aid of one of his hand-fashioned telescopes.

When he left for the New York City junket last December, Jesse told friends he planned to stay "indefinitely." Nor did the paucity of reasonably-priced apartments and a lingering preference for Carmel weather cloud his view of the city as a "great place for artists, or anyone else." The art schools are better there than anywhere else—even Europe—in Jesse's opinion, and they are brimming with students.

"You really can't beat New York for a lot of things," he says. But the fact that he returned, speaks well of his view of Carmel.

Holly Fassett Is A Bride

The "Nepenthe family" gained a new member by marriage last week, when Holly Eyre Fassett became the bride of Anthony W. Gafill of New York and Big Sur.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fassett of Big Sur, Holly was married at a simple 5:00 o'clock ceremony last Thursday in the garden of the Highlands home built by her maternal grandfather, the late Seth Ulman. She was given in marriage by her father.

Attending Holly was her younger sister, Kim Fassett. Both wore summery dresses of white pique, Holly's a short, bell-skirted style and Kim's a simple sheath. The bride carried a bouquet of bronze-gold orchids.

Following the ceremony, which was performed by Judge Richard Eldred, the wedding party drove down the coast for dinner, then saw the young couple off on a brief honeymoon camping trip.

Present for the occasion, in addition to the bride's parents, were her elder sister, Dorcas Jean Fasset; Mrs. Seth Ulman; and Mrs. Katherine Johnson of Laguna Beach, a sister of Bill Fassett's spending the summer in Big Sur.

The groom, who has lived in Big Sur for several years, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gafill of Greenwich Village. He attended Columbia University prior to moving to the West Coast. Both he and Holly will be working this summer at Nepenthe, the Fassetts' Big Sur restaurant. They are living temporarily in Monterey, where Holly will graduate from high school next month.

Unable to be present for the wedding last week were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Nelson Miles Leoni of Carmel Valley, and Holly's two brothers, Frank and Griff. Frank recently returned to New York after a visit here, during which his paintings were displayed in the Big Sur and Highlands galleries, and is currently preparing for a trip to Europe. Griff and his wife and their new baby, who make their home in Las Cruces, New Mexico, will be arriving in Big Sur next month and will remain through the summer.

will be shorter than the almost new stalls in use for the past few weeks. Planned are eight foot instead of five foot spaces between pairs of stalls. This means, Mr. Whitaker says, with each pair of cars parked bumper to bumper, there will be 26 and a half feet of maneuvering space instead of the present 21 feet. He says it's an experiment and that small cars won't have to maneuver at all.

Cost to the Carmel school district, if pupil bus transportation were turned over to a private company, would be 15 cents a mile more than the district now pays to operate its own buses, according to an estimate presented by Patchet's Transportation Company.

Trustees are awaiting an estimate from another independent company, Bay Rapid Transit, before making any decision.

Salaries and wages for teachers, administrators, and all other employes amount to 81.9 percent of the expected $1,645,320 1961-62 Carmel Unified School District budget expenditures, trustees learned at their May 18 meeting.

City Hall will be closed all day Tuesday, Memorial Day, a government code legal holiday.

The street department waged war against moths and mildew this week and oak trees on city property have a patina comparable to that on ancient bronzes, the result of a Bordeaux mixture to kill oak moth worms and copper sulphate to combat mildew combined in the street department's spray tactics.

Monterey County supervisors, Monday, referred the request to remove 69-acre Rancho Mar Monte subdivision from the Monterey School District, and place it in the Carmel Unified School District, to the County Committee on School District Organization.

Hermosa Beach did it! Mrs. Loyal T. Wiekhorst has sent us a clipping stating that the city council of Hermosa Beach deliberated for more than two hours before an audience of 200 persons, then unanimously adopted an ordinance making the owner of a dog that "soils a sidewalk, a lawn or other private property" liable to a fine of $25.

You'd love to see Europe our way

"Europe—with time enough and means enough really to get the feel of Old World living. The leisure to explore her backroads, to make friends with some of her people, to savor her background of art and tradition.

"For years this has been our big ambition. And here we are.

"A far cry from the hurry-up, watch-the-budget vacations we used to take. It was one of them, I remember, that made us realize we'd have to do a better job of managing money if we were to live (and travel) the way we wanted to.

"It wasn't easy at the start. But we held to the practice of putting aside a little each month in a Crocker-Anglo savings account.

"We could have saved as much, I know, with any other bank. But as it turned out, choosing Crocker-Anglo was the key to all the good things that came later . . . because of the helpfulness of Crocker-Anglo people. Time after time, we turned to them for advice and assistance.

"Would we be wise to use my small bonuses to buy some stock? Should we borrow money to buy the house across the street as an investment? If we did, could we later get a property improvement loan to enlarge it and increase its rental value?

"Questions like these arose all along the way. The fact that C-A's people helped us work out the answers made it possible for us to move ahead financially. To the point where —today—we can get more living done."

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

Among the past seven Sunday afternoon concerts of The Institute of Theatre Arts' Musica Viva held in the Steinbeck Theatre, none has been more interesting than the recital given by Patricia Michaelian, an eleven-year-old child prodigy who played with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra as part of its Youth Award program, which she won. Axel Duwe who has arranged and managed the concerts, is, himself, a good musician who has conducted orchestra and ballet in Munich, and offered Patricia as a special interest to children of whom there are many here studying piano. While a number were present under the special admission arrangement for them, there should have been five times as many considering the number of children's classes that exist on the Peninsula.

Small in stature for her years but large in comprehension of pianism, Patricia dealt with pieces by the old English composer Byrd, also Bach, Beethoven, Schumann, Chopin, Sheldon and Debussy besides accompanying her father, Ernest Michaelian, violinist with the San Francisco Symphony, in a Schubert and Mozart Sonatina and Sonata, with the savoir faire of an accomplished accompanist. She proved to be a resourceful performer in a list of compositions that could have taxed the memory and endurance of a mature artist. A pupil of Egon Petri, Patricia is another example of his excellent teaching. Her tonal grip whether brilliant or delicate had a sensitive musical value that should eventually develop an outstanding adult artist. The three small pieces by Robert Sheldon, who left his mark as a fine pianist on two previous Sundays, were effective compositions charmingly played. Enthusiastic recalls brought forth an encore and a bouquet for Patricia.

Next Sunday Bonnie Proctor, mezzo-soprano, and Milton Williams, baritone, with John Pemberton, pianist, will be heard in solos and duets.

Keep in mind the "Pops" Concert by the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra at the Forest Theater on June 4 at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon which is to start a fund for a scholarship that some gifted local music student will be able to win. By means of all these efforts the younger generation has many opportunities. Composers in many places are being commissioned by the orchestra associations that will play their works. No such opportunities existed when I first came to America, and the past ten years have seen tremendous growth everywhere.

More bass singers who can read good music are needed for the Bach Festival Chorus. Please call Miss Machado at MA 4-4166.

Solo parts in an Italian light opera by Frank Lucido of Monterey, which he hopes to produce before long, are being rehearsed by him, and more voices are wanted. Call FR 5-8871. The story is of fishermen and their village, a melodious, singable work which I have seen, and it should be given as that of a local composer.

ANNUAL BAY DAY JUNE 4

All graduates of Bay School, both when it was an elementary school and since its operation as the Carmel Parent Nursery School, also parents and other persons interested in visiting the little red schoolhouse at the mouth of San Jose Creek on Highway One, are invited to Bay Day, June 4.

The annual affair is planned as a reunion and for family enjoyment. Events start at 11:00 o'clock and continue until 4:00 in the afternoon. Barbecued hot dogs with beans and salad will be served for luncheon. A bake sale is scheduled. Indian Village Rides will be included in the amusements planned; also a variety of games for children and adults. There will be a white elephant sale.

Mrs. Russell Williams, Mrs. Everett Banfield Jr. and Mrs. Donald Criley are this year's Bay Day chairmen. Food will be the responsibility of Mrs. Donald Smythe and Mrs. Peter Wangoe. Enrollment of future students in the Parent Nursery School program, operated by the Carmel Unified School District, will be in charge of Mrs. Robert Diessen and Mrs. Rosa Doner, director of the school. Enrollment is limited to 25 pre-school age children. Parents, both mothers and fathers, assist with the school operation on a co-operative basis.

In Carmel They All But Vote

By Marie Rowland, Animal Reporter

Racoons, contrary to popular opinion, aren't the extremely immaculate dainty dippers. When you see them washing their food in water, be advised that they do so because they are lacking in saliva and need the moisture to masticate their food.

This valuable lore comes from one of Carmel's most enthusiastic amateur naturalists, Fred B. Seville, and he has done a lot of research on the matter.

The Seville home and garden, corner Palou Lane and North Casanova, is one of the most fascinating compounds in the village. Racoons, squirrels and every type of bird abound in that portion of the garden which Fred has purposely left wild.

While Elizabeth Seville works like a hound dog on her beautiful formal garden plot, providing the fountain and toothsome nectar-producing flowers for her husband's birds, a good half of the large lot has been left primitive, unless you count the half dozen hand-crafted bird houses poised strategically, three large hanging cages bulging with suet (kidney suet is best) and a tree platform and sunken water tub for the racoons.

Fred began his racoon feeding with one mater and five babies. Now they number 15 at a swoop and are, in his own words, "eating us out of house and home. They love marshmallows, grapes, and particularly many-flavored dog biscuits. They fill up, crawl up on our roof to sleep off their meal before returning for a refill."

For his pains, Fred has a large collection of colored slides on racoons.

But the birds are really Fred's favorites, he says. If you catch him at one of the early morning or evening feeds, you'll see sparrows, linnets, tiny nut-hatches and titmice, quail, pigeons, from two to four mourning doves, and blue jays.

"These birds repay us many times for the cost of the food. Not only do we enjoy their songs and sight of them, but we have discovered they are the best help yet in keeping down the oak worms and insects in our trees," says Fred.

Mention of the blue jay recalls the story told by another bird-lover, a neighbor, whose identity must be kept secret, for reasons which will presently be understood.

This neighbor had put out his hummingbird and linnet feeders. They drew coveys and coveys of birds, and he was in heaven. His ecstasy was complete when one day he discovered that a small linnet had made her nest on one of the eaves of his very porch. From a safe distance he could watch that nest and he saw to it that the mother got special tibits. Finally the babies showed their bare little heads and wide craws. There was much rejoicing in our neighbor's household. As he explained, it was as though he'd received a large stock dividend.

Imagine his horror one day to see a blue jay swoop down on that defenseless little mother linnet in her nest and one by one, carry off those struggling tiny fledglings "before they'd even had a chance to grow wing feathers and fly", he grieved.

Sorrow, frustration and revenge festered. On a trip to San Francisco our neighbor purchased an air rifle. He hadn't used one since he was a boy 50 years before. Came the day he had his chance at revenge; a blue jay had settled unsuspecting on a bough of his favorite oak tree. Grabbing the air rifle, our neighbor aimed, pulled the trigger.

The next instant the blue jay lay dead at his feet. He picked up the limp bit of beautiful blue. He held it in his hand and then shame and sorrow smote his heart. Gently he carried that bird to the back of the garden and buried it and made his vow. Never again would he use that air rifle.

When he told us this story recently, he said: "If there must be butchers in this world to pounce on the defenseless, there must be someone trained to defend, I suppose. But there are others born in this world who cannot kill. I am one of them."

We told the above story to artist Edith Reindel and do you know what she said? "Feed the butcher blue jays often enough and they won't slaughter the defenseless fledglings. That's what's wrong with the world; there are those who still need feeding so they won't kill."

There's a moral there somewhere, if you can find it.

Editor's note: Naturalists take a natural view of carnivorous birds, and there are a number of species besides the blue jay. Laidlaw Williams, when he used to lead Audubon field trips, would say in reply to some member's resentment at the behavior of such birds, "He's just trying to make a living."

MILLERS ON CRUISE

On the high seas bound for the Mediterranean and Europe are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Miller, who left New York recently aboard the Greek luxury liner T.S.S. Olympia. The Millers who live at Lincoln and Second Streets, plan to vacation abroad for the next five months.

Henry Gordon

Henry Wesley Gordon, 86, former manager of the Santa Barbara Lumber Company, died Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. N. Ellis, in Carmel Valley.

Mr. Gordon and his wife, Zell B. Gordon, came to the valley nearly five years ago from Wisconson, where they had moved following his retirement. He was a native of Brodhead, Wisconsin, where he was born January 28, 1875.

In addition to his wife and Mrs. Ellis, Mr. Gordon leaves three other daughters, Mrs. H. Z. Hays of Glendale, Mrs. C. E. Heath of San Gabriel and Mrs. Ralph Miles of San Diego; a son, Malcolm K. Gordon of Cathedral City; a sister, Mrs. Esther Harding of Urbana, Illinois; a brother, the Reverend George Gordon of New York; and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held yesterday at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel, with the Reverend Don Johnson officiating. Burial will be Saturday at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Glendale.

Carolyn Burde To Wed June 3

A wedding date of June 3 has been set by Carolyn Burde and Rodney Pierce (Pete) Phillips. They will exchange vows in a 5:30 o'clock ceremony next Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church of Boulder, Colorado.

Surprise announcement of her engagement was made by Carolyn last week, when she passed the traditional box of candy to her Gamma Phi Beta sorority sisters during the final house meeting of the year at the University of Nevada, where Carolyn is completing her freshman year. The Gamma Phis presented a party in honor of the future bride this week in Reno.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burde and their younger daughter, Meredith, will leave here Sunday to meet Carolyn at the college and drive to Boulder for the wedding ceremonies. Mr. and Mrs. John W. Morse, parents of the future benedict, will fly to Boulder next Saturday.

Completing the wedding party will be maid of honor Barbara Rhoda of Berkeley, niece of George Rhoda of Monterey and Carolyn's roommate at college, and former Carmelite Bob Goldwater, who will pilot his own plane from Phoenix, Arizona, to Boulder to serve as Pete's best man. Bob, who attended high school here, is a nephew of Arizona's Senator Barry Goldwater.

Carolyn visited her parents here over Easter vacation. She is a graduate of Carmel High School, as is her fiance. Pete attended Monterey Peninsula College and Lassen Junior College and is presently completing his studies at a technical institute in Denver, where he and Carolyn will temporarily make their home. The young couple hope to return to the Peninsula next year.

Swedish Visitors Entertained

Scandinavian-American relations were informally celebrated Saturday evening, when a visiting Swedish government official, his wife and sister-in-law were treated to Carmel hospitality.

Major Sven Olsen of the Swedish Air Ministry pronounced Carmel the most enjoyable part of an official visit to this country following a party which began with cocktails at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Don Criley and concluded with the visitors serenading their hosts with Swedish songs during dinner at a local restaurant.

Major and Mrs. Olsen interrupted a trip from Los Angeles to San Francisco to respond to the invitation of six couples for an overnight stop in Carmel. Sharing in entertaining the visitors, in addition to the Crileys, were Mr. and Mrs. Dorance Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Ellison Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Fortis, Mr. and Mrs. Bart Williams and Mr. and Mrs. William Bunzell.

Moffetts Have Baby Girl

A one-month birthday is being celebrated this week in the household of Mr. and Mrs. John Phillip Moffett, who welcomed a baby daughter at Monterey Hospital on April 26. The growing girl is named Theresa Lee.

Grays Celebrating, Graduating

Dr. and Mrs. K. Fillmore Gray will combine celebration of their twenty-fourth wedding anniversary May 29 with a visit to Mt. Pleasant, Utah, where the same day left early this week for Utah in uating from Wasatch Academy. The Grays and younger son, Stan, will leave for Utah next week in order to arrive at Mt. Pleasant by today to participate in the round of special events and activities which will precede the graduation ceremonies. Stephen and Stan will return here to spend the summer with their parents. Stephen plans to attend University of the Pacific next year.

Town House Travel Talk

Richard Phinney will provide inside observations on practical problems of world travel as well as show slides of his latest world tour in a talk at Town House Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. Phinney will discuss such matters as currency, shopping and politics, with particular emphasis on Asia and the Orient, and will answer questions from the audience. The meeting is open to the public, and will be followed by tea.

Lt. Cutler And Bride In Groton

Now making their home in Groton, Connecticut, are Lieutenant (jg) and Mrs. Lee M. Cutler, whose recent marriage followed Lieutenant Cutler's return from a seven-month cruise in the Western Pacific aboard the aircraft carrier USS Bennington.

Lieutenant Cutler and his bride, the former Mary Keys of Hastings, Nebraska, met while his ship was in port in San Francisco, where Miss Keys lived and worked following her graduation from the University of Nebraska. Their new home is close by the Navy's submarine school at Groton, where Lieutenant Cutler has just been assigned for a six-month advanced training course.

Captain and Mrs. S. Y. Cutler of Carmel and their daughter, Shirley, visited Nebraska for the wedding ceremonies, which took place recently at the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Hastings. Accompanying the groom's mother and sister on the trip was Miss Claudia Keys of San Francisco, who served as her sister's maid of honor. The groom's sister was a bridesmaid, while Captain Cutler, whose teaching position at Monterey Peninsula College required that he fly to Nebraska, was his son's best man. The wedding party was entertained by the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Donald F. Keys.

The Cutlers moved into their home at Monte Verde and Walker Avenue shortly after their son's graduation from Acalanes High School in the East Bay Area. Lieutenant Cutler subsequently entered the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, where he received his commission with the class of 1959.

A Son for the Marcuses

David Jonathan Marcus has answered the hope for a son by Mr. and Mrs. Alan Marcus. Arrival of the eight pound, two ounce boy Friday morning at Peninsula Community Hospital was happily received throughout the Highlands, where the well-known young writer and his family have their home and many friends.

Satisfaction at their baby brother, who arrived home Tuesday, was keen on the part of Anina Ruth and Naomi Beth Marcus, aged three and six respectively. David Jonathan's coterie of admirers will be augmented this summer, when visits are anticipated by his grandmothers, Mrs. Rose Marcus of Los Angeles and Mrs. Margaret Lustig of New York.

Louise Reifel Weds Tomorrow

A simple 5:00 o'clock ceremony tomorrow afternoon at the Church of the Wayfarer will unite Louise Boyd Reifel of Carmel and Granville L. Rogers of Los Banos.

Relatives of the couple will attend the wedding and a reception afterwards at the home on Atherton Road and Travis Way where Mrs. Reifel has lived with her three children.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charleton W. Boyd of Willows, Mrs. Reifel became a Carmelite six years ago and this past year served as president of the Children's Home Society. Her eldest son, Bruce Reifel, attends Monterey Peninsula College; his brother, Stuart, is a student at River School. Ronnie Sue Reifel, a sophomore at Carmel High School, will serve as her mother's maid of honor tomorrow.

Mr. Rogers is employed as an engineer by Miller-Lux in Los Banos. He and his bride will make their home in Carmel until completion of their new house at Dos Palos, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rogers, also reside.

For her wedding tomorrow, Mrs. Reifel has selected a short gown of ecru organza, with which she will wear a small flower hat with ecru veil and accessories. Her daughter will wear a short linen sheath in a lilac shade, with lilac accessories.

Sings of The Islands

The spell of the Islands—complete with tradewinds, soft scents, scenery and all advertised attractions—has not lulled the civic concern of at least one Carmelite. Beulah (Mrs. Armiger) Dredge, writing from Waikiki, notes that she looks forward each week to the Pine Cone and news of the council, planning commission, and "the number of pine trees cut or saved."

Mrs. Dredge, who flew to the Islands this spring, has already enjoyed a month on Kauai and extended visits on Maui, Hawaii and Molokai, and is anticipating her homebound trip on the Lurline. While relaxing at Waikiki, she has run into several friends from the Peninsula, among them Mrs. Betty Setchel of Carmel and Miss Grace Rudolph.

The Fred Riders Have a Girl

A star was born Friday afternoon at Peninsula Community Hospital: Kate Young-Hunter Rider, the premiere production of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Rider. Debut of the seven pound, 14 ounce baby girl earned a special tribute from the cast to the stage crew, Dr. Arnold Manor.

Bonny Kate, first child for the Golden Bough Circle's managing director and his actress wife, the former Marcia Kuster, takes her middle name from the maiden name of her maternal grandmother, Gay (Mrs. Ted) Kuster. The Kusters received news of their new grandchild in Lugano, Switzerland, where they are presently resting in preparation for a tour of Italy. They will meet Kate in October, when they plan to return home from their extended visit abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rider, the baby's paternal grandparents, and an aunt, Miss Helen Rider, are presently visiting here from their home in Danbury, Connecticut. They plan to remain another week to get acquainted with baby Kate, who came home with her mother on Tuesday.

A visit is also anticipated from the baby's uncle, Colin Kuster, currently living in San Luis Obispo with his wife and their two children, Scott and Gayanne.

Nix Ballet in Los Angeles

Choreographic fame of Joanne Nix was enhanced Saturday evening in Los Angeles, when her original ballet, Snow White, was presented by the Cecchetti Ballet Company at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre. Mrs. Nix flew south to be a guest of the company for the occasion.

Meanwhile, back home in Carmel, something less than balletic precision on the tennis courts resulted in a broken ankle for Dudley Nix. He's in a cast up to the knee, but able to navigate with the aid of crutches.

French Junior-Senior Prom Theme

The gymnasium at Carmel High School was transformed into a French Empire ballroom and garden Saturday night for the major pre-graduation event of the school year, the Junior-Senior Prom.

Chandeliers, a garden pool and period furniture contributed to the prom decor, main feature of which was the crowning of Queen Billie Fritsche. Her attendants were Pam Petersen and Julie Campbell.

Parties preceded and followed the prom, among them a dinner party at the home of Mike Draper, another honoring Brook Scherman, and a post-prom party hosted by Bobby Little.

TIME IS THE STREAM
—a Mason sonnet

Time is the stream and every man must fish
with bamboo pole or net or cunning seine.
Fish differ, fishermen all sigh the same.
Shining-scaled and slippery moves the wish;
too big for shallows, it must swim the main.
Eluding traps, it darts its finny flame,
falls in the net and is the fisher's game—
who fished for joy has caught the shad of pain.
For man may fish, but he may never choose
days of full sun or sodden nights of rain,
a catch of salmon or the silken swish
of sun fish or the shadowed, somber blues
of bass and if the fisher win or lose,
hunger will heap its bones upon his dish.

—B. Jo Kinnick

THE BLACK COCK CROWS

The night calls,
And I will not go;
And morning comes,
And the black cock crows;
But I spurn
His song and spit
Three times in the wind.
Death can be the night
Or a singing bird at dawn,
But I am one and twenty
And usher wisdom in.

—Frank Ankenbrand, Jr.

DOCKSIDE

Bobbing in unison, little boats
Swing with the sweep
Of an undulant tide;—
Slim masts lie reflected, shimmering,
Fantastically beside
Darkened shadows, beneath the pier,
Where barnacled timbers disappear
In Stygian mystery;
And small crustaceans scuttle from sight
At the splash of dripping oars,
To the depths of ocean's solitude
Or the shelter of rock-bound shores.

—Grace R. Ballard

APPLE BLOSSOM DEW

I see a tree of pure delight
When day is wrapped in morning blue,
A cloud of blooms from every bough
And sweet with apple blossom dew:
A drop of dew on petal white
On sheer chiffon as frail as gauze,
A liquid, sweet with morning's breath
And brief as dewdrops always pause.
I like the lovely dew the best
When fragranced soft with apple bloom,
For then I go with singing heart
And breathe the apple dew perfume.

—Edna James Kayser

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Biographies of people we are accustomed to, but biographies of things are more rare and just as interesting. Big Eight is the biography of an airplane, the DC-8, and incidentally of its creator Donald Douglas and the Douglas Aircraft Company. The DC is the Douglas Commercial line of planes, the first of which wobbled off the runway in 1933. Big Eight was written by Richard Hubler. Most of us have flown in a DC-8. Now most of us may read its history.

We have a copy of the New English Bible. So far only the New Testament has been published, and it was a joint publishing effort of the Oxford and Cambridge University Presses. Much has been written about this translation, of its simplicity and beauty, and little could be added to that in this column. To show you the difference, let us quote from the first chapter of the book of John. "When all things began, the Word already was. The Word dwelt with God, and what God was, the Word was. The Word, then, was with God at the beginning, and through Him all things came to be; no single thing was created without Him. All that came to be was alive with His life, and that life was the light of men." And so on, beautiful and plain.

Another book has recently been published which adds to the great mass of inside information about the leaders of the last great war. This one is by Joseph Kessel and is entitled The Man With the Miraculous Hands. It is the story of Dr. Felix Kersten who was physician to Heinrich Himmler. In return for the care he gave to Himmler, he extracted freedom for certain political prisoners and it is said that in this way he saved the lives of thousands who were marked for death.

Out in the middle of the Pacific, scientists drilled a hole almost six miles down into the earth's crust, and the project was called the Mohole Project. The book about it is entitled A Hole in the Bottom of the Sea, and it was written by Willard Bascom who directed the project, and who was for a time a research engineer at the Scripps Institute of Oceanography. The book is illustrated with photographs and diagrams. Mr. Bascom resided in Carmel for a number of years while associated with the Naval Postgraduate School.

Now and again some patron removes the plastic jacket from one of our books and fails to replace it. This constitutes a minor tragedy in our library lives because part of our identification and our class number label is lost and must be replaced somehow. But it is also a greater tragedy to the readers who follow the careless one, because these readers are deprived of the publisher's blurb which is always printed on the jacket and serves as a guide in choosing or rejecting the book by other patrons. So after all this soft voiced explanation of our stand on this matter, will you please keep your cotton-pickin' hands off the book jackets?

Alec Miller

Word was received this week of the death of Alec Miller, liturgical woodcarver and sculptor, while traveling in England. His death occurred in sleep last week in St. Nicholas-at-Wade, the Kentish village in which he and his wife, Eleanor, were married 50 years ago.

Mr. Miller first visited Carmel in 1936. He came to live here in 1943 following a return visit in 1941. Ten years ago he moved to Santa Barbara. In March, accompanied by Mrs. Miller and his son, Alastair Miller of Santa Barbara, he left to revisit England after an absence of ten years.

Alec Miller's liturgical sculpture and carving adorns 50 or more cathedrals, churches and public buildings in England, Canada and the United States, including All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel and the chapel of Santa Catalina School for Girls in Monterey.

Alec Miller was born in Glasgow, Scotland, 83 years ago. He studied figure drawing and anatomy at art school in his native city before going to the continent to study medieval carving in France, Italy and Belgium. At the age of 23 he gained recognition as a sculptor with six bas relief panels depicting the Divine Comedy of Dante.

In 1902, Mr. Miller was asked to return to England to take charge of a department of the Guild of Handcraft in Chipping Camden, Gloucestershire. The following year he executed a Madonna and Child for Urswick Church in Lancashire.

He first visited the United States in 1910 and at this time created a series of stone gargoyles for Bryn Mawr College in Pennsylvania. Thirty years later he returned to Bryn Mawr to execute decorative sculptures for new buildings.

In 1936 Alec Miller came to Carmel while in the United States under the auspices of the Institute of International Education to lecture on sculpture and related aspects of the history of art.

In 1939 he again came to this country on a lecture tour and, following the outbreak of World War II, decided not to return to England. In 1941 he revisited Carmel and determined to live here. The next year he was Waid Lecturer for the American Institute of Architects. He lectured in the schools of architecture of 22 universities across the country from coast to coast, then established his home in Carmel in 1943.

His work is placed in England, among other locations, in Litchfield Church, Coventry Cathedral, the London Guildhouse, Tewkesbury Abbey, the Royal Naval Barracks, and Magdalen College, Oxford University. His work is also found in Christ Church Cathedral in Montreal, Canada. The latter sculpture is a World War I Memorial as was, also, his large teakwood statue of St. Michael in Coventry Cathedral. This was destroyed in the bombing of Coventry during World War II. When Coventry Cathedral was rebuilt, Alec Miller was commissioned to execute sculptures for this church.

He exhibited in London at the Royal Academy; in the United States in New York, Philadelphia, Detroit, Cleveland, Rochester and the Corcoran Gallery in Washington D.C. He also had shows of his work in Carmel.

In addition to his wife and son, Alec Miller is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jane Wilgress of Los Olivos; and seven grandchildren, Oliver, Charlotte and Sarah Wilgress, and Nicholas, Alison, Andrew and Jane Miller. The last three are residents of Carmel Highlands.

. . . Churches . . .

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How individual rights are defended through spiritual perception of God's complete power and wisdom will be brought out at Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the Golden Text from Proverbs (21): "There is no wisdom nor understanding nor counsel against the Lord."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (pp. 234, 235): "Evil thoughts and aims reach no farther and do no more harm than one's belief permits. Evil thoughts, lusts, and malicious purposes cannot go forth, like wandering pollen, from one human mind to another, finding unsuspected lodgment, if virtue and truth build a strong defence."

From the Bible will be read these verses from I Peter (5): "Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: Whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world."

be rezoned for multiple dwelling commercial use. At present 18 motel-type units, a restaurant and bar, and two large party rooms in separate structures are situated in this area. The Dienelts propose increasing the number of one-story motel-type units to 50 if they obtain commercial zoning for the seven acres, and to retain the restaurant and bar.

Immediately south of the commercial seven acres would be a 33-lot subdivision on nine acres, Mr. Millard said. The lots, of a minimum size of 10,000 square feet, would be placed on each side of a cul-de-sac road. The entrance, off Lasuen Drive, would go through the west part of the existing Mission Ranch Stables development, Skipper Heebner, who operates the Mission Ranch for the Dienelts, stated at the meeting.

The lots south of the cul-de-sac would be crossed by a maintenance road for a levee on the north bank of the Carmel River. These lots would extend to the river but no building would be allowed south of the levee road, Mr. Millard continued.

South of the nine-acre subdivision, Mr. and Mrs. Dienelt propose deeding to the State of California 13 acres bisected by the Carmel River. This area is adjacent to the Rivermouth State Park and would be kept in natural state, in perpetuity, Mr. Millard added.

Objections to any permanent commercial zoning were expressed by Colonel Shelburn Robison, Brigadier General Robert P. Williams, L. J. Fletcher, Lewis K. Hunter, Jack Miller, Frank Lloyd and Gunnar Norberg. Apparent support of the rezoning proposal was expressed by Orval G. Mead, Miss Marjorie Fontana and Ernest Bixler.

Stephen Kahn desired more specific information on any development planned for the area, as did also Mrs. Audrey Tetley, Mrs. William A. Jensen and James H. Parks.

County Planning Commissioner Keith Evans, a Mission Tract resident, proposed that a large map with the three zones well-defined, also renderings and locations of proposed development would be advantageous.

Mr. Evans announced that he had a neutral attitude towards the rezoning. He pointed out that the Mission Ranch non-conforming use could continue indefinitely as repairs to the structure each year are allowed up to 20 percent of the assessed valuation of the property.

"I doubt you will see the end of the Mission Ranch," he said.

If the remaining acreage were developed, as now zoned, in 6,000 square feet dwelling sites, it was possible that the 13 acres offered inviolate as greenbelt by the Dienelts might be developed with houses.

The advisory committee's problem was whether or not the Dienelt's offer of 13 acres of green belt, in exchange for legal multiple dwelling commercial zoning for seven acres, is a good one, he continued. In conclusion, Mr. Evans suggested that the commercial part of the property could be designated as a special treatment zone. This would mean that number, location, design and height of buildings would be irrevocably established by the county planning commission.

Mr. Millard declared that under existing zoning, the Mission Ranch operation is not taxed as highly as it would be if it were zoned commercially. He added that the three-phase zoning of the 29 acres was the most intelligent use of the property.

Mr. Jackson, concluding the meeting, promised, when more specific plans were presented to the advisory committee, he would call another meeting of Mission Tract residents, if the county planning commission agrees to postpone action on the rezoning on Tuesday.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN'S OFFICERS

Arthur Knowles was sworn in as new chairman for 1961-62 of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department at the organization's recent monthly meeting. Other new officers installed by outgoing chairman Frank Putnam were Russ Pratt, vice-chairman; Dexter Whitcomb, James Cardwell and Gene Ricketts, trustees. Re-elected were Jack Montgomery, secretary; Paul Artellan, treasurer, and John Hudelson and William Askew Jr., emergency benefit fund committee.

The following were appointed by chairman Knowles to committees and offices for the coming year: James Cardwell, sergeant at arms; Harold Studevant, assistant sergeant at arms; Lee McGuckin, Eric Jensen and Joel Thomas, social committee; James Kelsey, social activities chairman.

Planners Set Hearing For C-1-L Zone

Carmel planners, yesterday afternoon, referred back to their land use committee, Commissioners Florence Josselyn and George Willox, the corner lot problem in the business district with instructions that the committee meet with City Attorney John Morse to consider an amendment to the zoning ordinance containing provisions for site coverage of corner lots; the amendment to be ready for discussion at the next commission meeting.

Commissioners decided a change in the ordinance to provide a sliding scale of less than 1,000 square feet per unit development of sites of 8,000 square feet or less in multiple dwelling use was impractical. The 1,000 square feet provision in the ordinance preserved the identity of the community they maintained.

Both the above matters were referred to the commission for study by the city council.

Planners set three public hearings. On June 8, 4:00 o'clock, a hearing will be held on extending the C-1L zone for hotels, motels. This extension, also, was requested by the city council. On June 28 hearings will be held on the zoning of public lands as recommended by the commission, and on an amendment to the ordinance to control floodlighting.

A building permit was granted to C. P. Kimball for a ten-unit resident-owned apartment development on the east side of San Carlos between Third and Fourth. Matthew C. Jenkins was given permission to remodel three bathrooms into six bathrooms at Cypress West Hotel. Fred Farr received a time extension for apartment construction at Monte Verde and Seventh.

Sign permits were granted for Lincoln Lane, Little Swiss Cafe, Candlelight Inn, Jolly Roger Restaurant, Percy Manton's Texaco Station, Purity Store, Bank of America and The Cole Bin. Planners indicated they were not in favor of a public notice board at the entrance to the Purity Store.

Percy Davis, Jr.

Percy Lionel Davis Jr. died unexpectedly early this morning at his home on Atherton and Lazarro Drive at the age of 73.

A Carmel resident for over two years, Mr. Davis and his wife, Mary, moved here from Rio del Mar near Aptos. A lifelong Californian, Mr. Davis was born May 28, 1878, in San Francisco, and until his retirement in 1955 worked as an electrical engineer.

He served as an ensign in the U.S. Navy during World War I, and subsequently managed his own electrical firms in San Francisco and Oakland until the outbreak of the second World War when he voluntarily entered civilian work for the Navy. At the time of his retirement, he and his wife made their home in San Mateo.

In addition to his wife, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Mary Edrienne Bol of Wyoming, Ohio; a sister, Mrs. Charles Lewis of New York City; and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday at the Little Chapel by the Sea, with the Paul Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

It is requested that friends wishing to make contributions in the memory of Mr. Davis do so in the form of donations to the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Carmel, of which Mr. Davis was a member.

Tirzah Roosevelt

Mrs. Tirzah Maris Gates Roosevelt, wife of Nicholas Roosevelt of Big Sur, died Wednesday morning in a local hospital where she had been in serious condition following a cerebral hemorrhage Monday morning at her home on Partington Ridge. She was 53.

A resident of Big Sur since 1946, when she and her husband moved there following his retirement as an executive staff member of the New York Times, Mrs. Roosevelt was a widely traveled person with many interests and many friends.

The daughter of the late State Senator and Mrs. E. J. Gates of Pasadena, Mrs. Roosevelt was born in New York City on December 22, 1907. She attended Stanford University, and later spent a number of years abroad.

Her marriage to Nicholas Roosevelt, a cousin of Presidents Theodore and Franklin D. Roosevelt, took place in Europe on June 5, 1936.

Tirzah Roosevelt was a member of the Society of Friends, and took active part in Quaker work. It was her wish that any memorial recognition take the form of donations to the American Friends Service Committee.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Roosevelt is survived by two brothers, Freeman Gates and Howard Gates, and a sister, Mrs. D. V. Gates, all of Pasadena. She was also a cousin of Fritz Wurzmann of Carmel.

Private funeral services were held today at the Little Chapel by the Sea.

Council Drafts Motel Bed Tax After Struggle

fund, provide increased police and fire protection, also administration and street department facilities; all necessary for the welfare of increasing numbers of tourists.

Speaking as president of the Carmel-by-the-Sea Motel Association, William Sefton told the council the Carmel tourist is one who never litters the beach or poses a parking problem, since parking is provided off-street at his motel. "And for every dollar spent on lodging, the tourist spends six to eight with local merchants and restauranteurs. Just two motels recommending a restaurant or shop to incoming patrons could swamp it with business in an hour or so," Sefton said.

Architect Robert Stanton, who is also a motel owner, reading from a study he had made of overall taxes already paid by the motel-hotel industry, said that in addition to the $4,105 per annum tax now levied at a flat $5 per room, owners pay some $19,417 in city taxes, $28,813 in general property taxes, $51,580 school taxes and $8,055 in special district taxes, "Making us already pay as a group some $111,900 in taxes." In addition, he said, sales and use taxes amount to $147,500 on some $14,750,000 spent in the town largely by tourists staying in the motels and hotels.

Stanton, whose figures even included a survey of unoccupied property in Carmel which showed 90 percent occupancy and only 10 per cent "left for growth, so we can't grow much," said that where firm figures were not available, his survey was made by "interpolating some things and guessing at others."

Ashton Stanley of La Playa said his business, which depends on conventions and group business to tide it over the off season, might have to close down in winter if conventions shunned his hotel because of the tax. "The power to tax," he quoted, "is the power to destroy."

Other speakers, whose remarks largely endorsed those of Stanton, were Harrison Godwin of the Pine Inn, Sidney A. Dibble who formerly operated the Wayfarer Inn, Hank Fonseca of the Jade Tree Inn, Thompson McCrea of the Tally Ho Inn, Armond Pilone of the Torres Inn who said his figures showed that 90 percent of the Carmel overnight guests are Californians, Phil Peiser of the Wayfarer Inn, W. W. VanSickle of the Green Lantern Motel, and others.

Speaking from the audience in favor of the bed tax was insurance man Tom May, who, as a councilman two years ago, proposed a one percent gross tax on motel-hotel interests and was subsequently defeated at the polls. One hosteler had cited May's defeat as a signal from voters the bed tax would be obnoxious to them. May said, however, that with so many factors involved in city elections, such a conclusion would be a shaky one at best.

Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN, Ret.), president of the Carmel Citizens Committee, challenged the Stanton survey figures, and fired off a special barrage of doubt at the unqualified assumption of all the hotel-motel people that business could be expected to drop because of the imposition of a tax. "It doesn't seem to me the motel business here is in such a precarious position as all that," the admiral said. "On the contrary, all indications seem to point to it as a very good business to be in."

Firing the opening gun in the council's reply to the hostelers was Gunnar Norberg, who said that though he wanted to keep "a somewhat open mind," on the matter, he was concerned because in the months of study the measure has received, he had heard no workable alternative tax proposal.

He went on to point out that 85 percent of Carmel's permanent population has no connection whatever with either the motel or merchandising interests, and yet, as the majority, has established the mood and tenor of the town, which causes it to be sought out by the tourist.

"Many retired people moved here in the first place because they felt it was the nearest thing to heaven possible on earth," he said. "It is a pleasant place to be not because of the overnight visitors but because of the accumulation of a series of intangibles over a long past.

"This is the real goose that lays the golden egg—the fact that here are free-minded men living in free air in enviable attractive surroundings, meeting other minds from all over the world whom they would enjoy knowing for the rest of their days. This is the root matter and one we should never forget," he added.

"When we as a council forget this, then we should be voted out of office, and quite properly should be. But we should not be rejected for contemplating the levying of a perfectly equitable and legally acceptable tax," Mr. Norberg concluded.

Councilman Francis Whitaker pointed out the need for "Facing our responsibilities. We have known for nine or ten months that we need an increased revenue from somewhere. If we don't look ahead, the burden will be on a future council." Whitaker said many cities and states have such a tax now and "most people who travel at all are used to it."

"I formerly took the position that such a tax in Carmel should be delayed until a similar one was levied in Monterey," Councilman Eben Whittlesey said, "but we can't dismiss the fact of our cost of government."

Councilman Chitwood recalled that, "I once remarked that I would not vote for a bed tax unless part of the money were spent on the parking control problem. But there is a limit to the amount of real estate tax a property will carry."

His recollections also included the fact that "There was the same amount of protest over the city sales tax when it was levied, and yet the volume of business climbed steadily. However," he said, "I want to make sure we are on firm ground before we proceeed."

Mayor Frank Putnam said that he, too, thought the tax might be a discriminatory one for Carmel if Monterey had no similar measure. "But I am told," he said, "that a bed tax may soon be adopted on a state level. Nearly half the states already have such a tax ranging from two to seven percent."

Councilman Whitaker was the instigator of the motion for preparation of the ordinance by City Attorney John Morse, who asked the Committee on Administration to work closely with him on preparation so that all facets of the problem might be taken into consideration. Norberg seconded the unanimous action.

Trustees Considering Administrative Study For Carmel District

A representative from Stanford University will come to the June 7 meeting of Carmel Unified School District board of trustees to discuss a possible study of district organization, including work and staffing of the central administrative office, according to Stuart Mitchell, district superintendent.

Mr. Mitchell also has been asked by the board to check on the study of these matters being made in Monterey district by Booz, Allen and Hamilton, management consultant firm.

Last Thursday night Carmel trustees deferred action on a career salary plan for district administrators until they decide whether or not to have a study of the administrative situation by outside consultants.

Carmel district administrators have requested the board to consider a career salary classification for them similar to the career teacher salary schedule adopted by the board.

Assistant superintendent Wayne Greenfield presented a budget report showing that expected income for 1961-62 is $1,716,684, expenditure, $1,645,320, leaving a balance of $71,364 to be placed in reserve. The following years, 1962-63, when the new junior high school is expected to be in operation, budget figures are: income, $1,794,363; expenditures, $1,774,195; balance, $20,168.

Trustees authorized the purchase of 19.8 acres in the Farm Center area of Carmel Valley as site for a second junior high school in from five to ten years. The price is $5,500 per acre, total $108,911.

Personnel matters included discussion of policy for employing a principal in September for the new junior high at the mouth of Carmel Valley. Planning for staff, counseling and other matters before school opens in 1962 make it necessary to appoint a junior high school principal before next school term. A replacement for Richard Baron, Woods and Carmelo principal, must also be found before September. Mr. Baron has resigned to take an administrative position in Sacramento.

Resignations were accepted by trustees from Marie Rickard, fourth grade teacher at River, and Constance Riggin, Woods first grade teacher.

New teachers employed were Jo Anne Futterer, second grade, Tularcitos; Patricia Maxwell, English, High School; Enid Palmerlee, kindrgarten, Carmelo.

Edward Goodrick will be employed as supervisor of buildings, grounds and transportation, trustees decided. The first two responsibilities are left vacant by the resignation of W. E. Viljoen after 16 years' employment by the district. Mr. Goodrick will assume Mr. Viljoen's duties in addition to his present transportation responsibilities.

Trustees also decided to abolish the positions of cafeteria managers. Mr. Greenfield will report after further study on a manager-cook cafeteria system under one trained supervisor as possible replacement for the manager system of operating school cafeterias.

Trustees designated to present diplomas at graduations were: Sunset School, Richard Snyder; Tularcitos, Dr. Grant Fletcher; Carmel High School, Mrs. Betsy Bennett.

At the suggestion of Dr. Richard Snyder, the matter of discontinuing the Katherine Peterson Memorial Fund, set up by American Legion Auxiliary of Carmel Post 512, was referred to the County Counsel. The fund was established to assist students following a technical training career by means of a loan.

Senior Week Starts In Court Monday, Ends With Picnic

Carmel High School's Class of '61 will enjoy a final pre-graduation fling next week, designated as Senior Week.

Monday will be the seniors' day in court. The class is slated to spend the morning as observers in Superior Court in Salinas. Tuesday, schools will adjourn for the Memorial Day holiday, and Wednesday, the Carmel High teaching staff will be temporarily relieved of duty when 28 seniors take over classes for Senior Teaching Day.

Senior Week finale will be Thursday, designated as Dress-Up Day. The senior assembly will take place in the morning, and will include reading of the senior class will and the class history, and presentation of prizes for the best costumes.

Thursday afternoon at 12:40 o'clock, buses will leave the High School for Big Sur, where the seniors will disport themselves at the annual class picnic. Return trip is scheduled for approximately 7:30 o'clock. Normal activities will be resumed Friday, June 2, with classes as usual.
